MASS INTENTION

Would you like to have a Mass celebrated in memory of a loved one or thanksgiving for the prayers answered by God! A $10 Stipend is recommended for each Mass. Call the parish office and have a date fixed for you in advance.

Today's Gospel is leading us forward to Pentecost, the sending of the Holy Spirit. It is the Holy Spirit who gives us wisdom and understanding and invites us to meditate on the Word of God so that we can understand how that Word can change our lives. Our first reading challenges us to consider again how decisions are made in our Church. We Catholics now have a very highly developed understanding of authority in the Church but that understanding is clearly based in these early understandings of authority at work in the Church. One can see that even in the early Church there was a structure of some sort like the "Elders" or "presbyters". Without any explicit teaching of Jesus, the community was faced with a question about inclusion whether Greek converts needed to practice Jewish observances. The decision was bold as they argued that a burden should not be put on the people. We too represent diverse views and needs and interests yet we are called to be a community seeking the gift of peace and the guidance of the Holy Spirit. In the Gospel we continue with the challenge of knowing how to live the Christian life with others: whoever loves me will keep my word. It is clear from the Scriptures that if we want to follow Jesus, then we must allow our lives to be formed by His words in the Scripture. We must study Scripture not as scholars do but as people who are thirsty to live by His word. When we don't understand what His word means, then we must ask the Apostles and the Elders of our own time. These are people who speak for the Christian community today. We Catholics have the Pope, the Bishops, priests and Deacons. We also have Scripture scholars who help us and those in authority to deepen our understanding of what the Scriptures mean. Today there are all kinds of conflicts about what the Scriptures mean, in every area of morality. We find totally opposite explanations and understandings of various Scriptural passages. For us, these disagreements should be healthy because they make us think more and try to understand more. Jesus has a farewell gift, the gift of peace that overcomes the daily stresses and fears. The peace Jesus speaks of is not just about the absence of chaos or war but has multiple meanings. His departure is not abandonment but a new indwelling presence, yielding the gift of peace. The important thing is for us as a parish to continue to grow in hospitality when we gather for worship. The ritual of the Sign of Peace is not intended to be an opportunity to just say hello to others who gather. We are reminded at the Sign of Peace that we share and prayerfully wish one another a full measure of that peace. Jesus is speaking about a Mission he wants to give the disciples. Jesus played his part and now it's up to us to live with that Mission. At present the world has the need to listen to the Holy Spirit. As Christians, there are so many intrigues, perplexities and dilemmas that we must contend with in our world today. If we want to survive the perils of our time we must make the Holy Spirit our Advocate and our Partner. It is only through the guidance of the Holy Spirit that we can face the struggles of this life. Let us ask God today to send His Spirit more fully into our lives. May that Holy Spirit intercede for us and for our world so that we can understand the revealed Word of God more completely and allow our lives to be formed by that Word.
